

Epicurean Compassion community + passion = compassion

Our passion for making a commitment to our community gave rise to our compassion division. Our foundations come to life through a desire to see community goals realized. Owners, management and staff sit on many charitable boards and donate a significant portion of personal and corporate gross revenues to many non-profit organizations through in-kind and cash donations. The family that is Epicurean is about community service that reaches beyond the kitchen.

We realize that the need for support is great. It would be our heartfelt wish to honor every request. Unfortunately, that is not possible. We are pleased to commit to the following organizations for 2011:

Volunteers of America – supported for 14 years
The Adoption Exchange – supported for 20 years
Denver Center for the Performing Arts – supported for 12 years
National Sports Center for the Disabled – supported for 6 years
National Repertory Orchestra – supported for 3 years
Project PAVE – supported for 3 years
Hospice of Metro Denver – supported for 10 years
Men For The Cure – supported for 7 years
“In-Kind Donations” – over 50 annually

We commend you for your dedication to your chosen charity and wish you much success with your event.

Sincerely,

Larry DiPasquale
President/CEO
